Important Notice for Allergy Shot (Immunotherapy) Patients

New Requirement Starting January 1, 2027

Beginning January 1, 2027, all immunotherapy patients are required to bring a current (unexpired) epinephrine auto-injector (EpiPen®) to every allergy shot visit.

Your safety is our top priority. Although you are monitored in our office after each injection, allergic reactions can sometimes happen after you leave. Having a working epinephrine auto-injector with you gives you immediate protection wherever you are.

What You Need to Do

- Bring your epinephrine auto-injector to every shot visit. Our shot technician will check it before your injection.
- Check the expiration date printed on the device. It must not be expired.
- Do not wait for it to expire. Request a refill before the date on the label.

Is Your Epinephrine Expired or Missing?

That's okay. Just let your shot technician know. We will send an additional prescription to your pharmacy so you can pick up a new one.

Before Your Allergy Shot

We recommend that you take your antihistamine before coming in for your allergy shot. Ask your provider if you have questions about which antihistamine is right for you.

Questions?

Please ask your shot technician.

Thank you for helping us keep you safe.
